Re: Closing of the Nursery for this week and relocation of Dolphins

Dear Parents of Squirrels and Dolphins

This morning we discovered a leak in the roof of the reception mobile classroom above Dolphins. On investigation we have found that the void between the roof and the ceiling is saturated with water. The ceiling is bulging under the weight of the water and until repaired the room is not safe for children.

In order to keep the children safe and to give time and space for repairs and drying out I have decided to move Dolphins into the nursery building for the rest of the week.

This means that, unfortunately, the nursery will be closed for nursery children for the rest of this week. Nursery will be open again on Monday 25th January.

I realise that this closure will cause disruption for many of you and for this I apologise. We do not have any other suitable or safe venue for the children other than the nursery building.

Dolphins should be dropped off at the nursery building for the remainder of this week.

I will write to you again if there are any updates.

Yours sincerely

F Marsh
